

Draft Board In Fayette County Halts Inductions

The Selective Service Board here today refused to induct any more men into the service until "action is taken to stop major strikes."

The unprecedented move came like a bombshell Wednesday morning after a called draft board meeting.

The board in a signed telegram to Col. C. W. Goble, state director of Selective Service, served notice Wednesday morning that "we, as a board, feel it our duty to discontinue calling men for the armed forces."

"Our reason for this action is," the telegram continued, that "thousands of men now on strike were granted deferments for the health, welfare and safety of the people of our community." The board said its move was justified "in all fairness to those who served, are serving, and are to serve in the armed forces."

Sticking by its decision, the board said nine 18 year old boys slated for induction Thursday would be told to return home when they reported to the draft board at 8 A. M.

"We're not going to send them," a member of the draft board said vehemently Wednesday. He added the board would not send any other men for induction "until this matter is straightened out. It will take some explanation from some one," he declared.

Registration of boys on their 18th birthdays will continue as in the past, it was stressed.

The decision to stop inductions "until such time necessary action is taken to stop all major strikes within the United States," was not made hastily. The members of the board had discussed it among themselves before it came up at a regular draft board meeting. Last Tuesday, the board met again and again the men talked over the question. "We asked ourselves, 'why are we drafting these men under present conditions?' and we couldn't

Preparedness Plan Outline Is Given By Chief of Staff

Meandering Along the Main Stem
By WASH FAYETTE

As I stood near the pumping plant of the Ohio Water Service Co. and watched the waters of Paint Creek flow steadily over a little dam across the stream about 300 feet from the main dam, and form a pool over the dry floor of the earthen reservoir, I recalled that several times during the past 15 years I have been present when water started pouring into the dry reservoir after months of drought.

This time it had been less than two months since the water was pouring over the dam and the reservoir was full. Last February it was seven months from the time the water ceased flowing until it started once more.

One year I watched a small wall of water coming down the dry stream bed and roll over the little dam, then quickly start filling up the reservoir back of the main dam.

I have always felt a great deal easier about the city's water supply when the creek started flowing to replenish the visible supply.

Recently the head of the Ohio Water Service Co., G. Taylor Evans, appearing before city council, pledged early efforts to obtain an adequate water supply here. Citizens generally are wanting this done with as little delay as possible, and not wait for another drought to threaten the supply as it has so many times during the past quarter of a century.

Water company officials admit that the question is a vital one, and that it must be met.

RIVER DEVELOPMENT BACKED BY TRUMAN

Preview of Policy Given at TVA Dam Dedication

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
GILBERTSVILLE, Ky., Oct. 10.—(P)—President Truman voices assurance today the nation soon will "press forward" in the development of all its great river valleys with traditional pioneering spirit.

Speaking at the dedication of the Tennessee Valley Authority's Kentucky Dam here, he called TVA "just plain common sense" and added:

"The valleys of America await their full development. The time has come—now that materials and manpower are more plentiful—to press forward. The days of the pioneer are not dead. The development of our natural resources calls for men of courage, of vision, of endurance, just as in the pioneering days of old."

REPUBLICAN SWING SEEN BY BRICKER

COLUMBUS, Oct. 10.—(P)—John W. Bricker, the Republican candidate for vice president in 1944, declared last night that "there is a great sweep going on in this country toward the Republican party."

The former governor, speaking at the opening of his party's municipal election campaign, added:

"It (the sweep) will be evidence in the municipal elections this fall and we will carry this state next year. And then we will take over in Washington in 1948."

Bricker has been mentioned as a possible candidate for the Republican nomination for U. S. senator in 1946.

Military Training Program's Keystone

Defense Against Terrifying New Weapons, Gen. Marshall Says Will Require Strong Force To Hit at Source of Attack Disaster in Last War Missed Because Enemy Failed To Take Advantage of Opportunity, Report Says

By ELTON C. FAY.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—(P)—General Marshall cautioned Americans today that a rich nation which lays down its arms in this age of terrifying and fantastic new weapons courts catastrophe.

The chief of staff said the United States should maintain a regular army, national guard and reserve of trained civilians so huge it could mobilize 4,000,000 men in a year.

It should not stint funds for intensive scientific research, General Marshall asserted in his biennial report to the secretary of war, C. Marshall.

At a time when Army Chief of Staff methods of attack hitherto unpublished may subject New York, Pittsburgh, Detroit, Chicago or San Francisco to a rain of annihilation from points thousands of miles from this continent.

Here is what Marshall thinks this country should do:

Provide money and means for continuous research into the military ramifications of man's scientific advance.

Provide a permanent peacetime citizen army, built around a corps of men who have received one year of compulsory military training.

Encourage the national guard—it is "in the first category of importance" in the citizen army.

Maintain a regular army composed primarily of a strategic force, with emphasis on air power, part of it deployed in the Pacific and Caribbean.

Keep the training program abreast of technical developments and the resulting modifications of tactics.

"To prevent another international catastrophe," Marshall declared, "there is no alternative but that this nation must be prepared to defend its interest against

Weapons of Future Challenge of Today

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—(P)—General George C. Marshall says the secret of atomic explosive "will not be ours exclusively indefinitely."

The chief of staff's view, expressed in his biennial report, had added significance in view of President Truman's message on atomic power sent to Congress last week.

In his message, Mr. Truman said scientists agreed that the theory is "widely known," that foreign research will come abreast of us in time. He urged international renunciation of the use of atomic bombs.

Marshall commented that "the tremendous military advantage of this terrifying weapon fell to us through a combination of good luck, good management and prodigious effort. The harnessing of atomic power should give Americans confidence in their destiny but at the same time we must be extremely careful not to fall victim to overconfidence."

It was at this point he made his statement that the discovery could not be kept exclusive.

Peace-time Development

In the years between the two World Wars, Marshall said, we permitted Germany to "far outpace" us in the development of atomic power.

War's Tide Turned By U.S. Air Power

By JAMES J. STREIBIG
WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—(P)—The tremendous reliance placed on American air power in the toughest phases of the war was emphasized today by Gen. George C. Marshall's report to the secretary of war.

The chief of staff cited that the air forces were assigned to:

1. Hold the enemy.
2. Clear a path for Allied surface forces.
3. Supply ground units.
4. Carry out strategic bombing.

He quoted Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to emphasize, too, the importance of coordination of air, ground and sea forces.

During a critical phase in the invasion of Italy, Eisenhower advised his chief:

"In the present situation our great hope is the air force. They are working flat out and assuming, which I do, that our hold on Southern Italy will finally be solidified. We are going to prove once again that the greatest value of any of the three services is ordinarily realized only when it is utilized in close coordination with

TAX CUT PLANS LEAVE CONGRESS IN CONTROVERSY

Assortment of Issues That Bear on Future Policies Under Consideration

By MAX HALL.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—(P)—Congress worked and talked today on fateful policy decisions for America's future. Here is a quick summary:

Military—General Marshall's new proposal for compulsory military training bumped into this congressional response: "Wait."

Atomic—A House committee hurried into secret session to wrestle with a history-making bill to control atomic development.

Scientific—A Senate committee tried to discover what sort of leadership is planned for a federal research agency which Congress has been asked to create.

Diplomatic—The Senate foreign relations committee is expected to give its blessing to the nomination of Spruille Braden as assistant secretary of state. Committee action has been postponed, pending more information on the Latin American situation.

Economic—There was an outburst over allowing a Communist to testify on the "full employment" bill. There also was more testimony from employers today against raising the minimum wage from 40 to 65 cents.

A large, angry Texan, Rep. Wright Patman, protested because the House expenditures committee has consented for Communist William Z. Foster to appear on the "full employment" bill.

Patman is a leading sponsor of the bill. He has heard that Foster plans to support it, too. That's why Patman is mad. He thinks this would hurt the bill's chances.

HUFFMAN TO RETURN TO COLUMBUS SOON

Winding Up Business Reason, New Senator Says

COLUMBUS, Oct. 10.—(P)—U. S. Senator James W. Huffman will return from Washington this week end "to wind up business in Columbus."

"My appointment was unexpected by me and I left things hastily," Huffman said after being sworn in yesterday.

Huffman, who resigned as state commerce director to become senator, said he planned to return Friday.

Huffman stated his aim in his new post, by observing that "I am here to go to work." He added:

"I am going to work with Governor Lausche in the interest of getting what our state needs through the federal government."

Gov. Frank J. Lausche appointed Huffman to the Senate seat vacated by Harold H. Burton to become U. S. supreme court justice.

Political Upheaval in Argentina Is Considered 'Significant' By U.S.

By LAURANCE F. STUNTZ
BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 10.—(P)—The army ruled Argentina today after forcing the resignation of the "strong-man" vice president, Col. Juan Domingo Peron, but the navy was reported demanding the entire government quit and turn the nation over to the supreme court.

Gen. Edelmiro Farrell, head of the military regime, still is president, but he takes his orders from Gen. Eduardo Avalos, commander of the big Campo de Mayo garrison in suburban Buenos Aires, whose personal quarrel with Peron brought about the military's demand for resignation of the vice president.

Juan Cooke, Farrell's foreign minister, announced the cabinet would meet today.

Demonstrations were touched off in many places as news of the resignation of Peron spread swiftly, and there were some clashes

Mine Strike End Nears; New Disputes Break Out

WEATHER COLD FOR LAST GAME

But Crowd Turns Out and World Series Record Looms

By SID FEDER
WRIGLEY FIELD, Chicago, Oct. 10.—(P)—The World Series ran into more cold, windy weather today for the closing seventh game between the Detroit Tigers and Chicago Cubs.

With the thermometer in the low 40's and a strong breeze blowing almost straight out from back of the grandstands to the center field stands, the bleacher customers were slow in turning out, and by 11 A. M. only some 2,500 rattled around the pyramid-shaped open sections rimming the outfield.

But with all the reserved seats snapped up within two hours after being put on sale yesterday, and more bleacherites drifting in all the time, it was virtually certain that by the time Detroit Lefty Helms and Chicago Hank Borowy opened fire at 1:30 P. M. (EST) a crowd of more than 40,000 would be on hand.

This would be more than enough to break the old world series attendance record of 328,651 for the set, as well as skyrocket the already new all-time high gate receipts past the million-and-a-half dollar mark.

TWO DEMOCRATS NAMED TO AGRICULTURE BOARD

COLUMBUS, Oct. 10.—(P)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche today named two new Democratic members of the State Board of Agriculture, bringing the party lineup on the group to five Democrats and five Republicans.

The new members, named to terms expiring October 10, 1950, were Frank C. Smith of Groveport and Emerson A. Mizer of Cadiz. They succeed Arthur B. Evans of Cedarville and Ernest J. Riggs of Gallia County, Republicans.

WORLD TRADE UNION IS PLANNING STUDY

PARIS, Oct. 10.—(P)—The executive committee of the World Trade Union Federation decided today on the formation of a six-member commission which will ask permission to go to Japan to investigate post-war conditions.

The commission will consist of one representative each from the United States, Russia, Great Britain, France, China and Australia.

A commission consisting of representatives from the United States, Russia, Great Britain, the Netherlands and Poland also will be sent to Germany to investigate reconstruction of the trade union movement there.

Ranks of Idle Decreased by 42,000 With Settlement of Three-state Textile Workers Row—418,000 Still Out

By The Associated Press
Expected reduction of nation's strike lines to under 400,000 this week backfires as new labor disputes increase idle to around 418,000.

Major trouble spots:

COAL—Showdown expected in government sponsored conferences aimed to settle critical coal strike as Secretary Schwellenbach ready to offer compromise to union and operators; 749 mines closed, 182,000 workers off job, steel production sag.

SHIPPING—Continuing strike of New York longshoremen leaves world's busiest harbor virtually idle; 369 ships tied up; some troopships to sail to Europe without cargo; foreign freight piles up.

MOTION PICTURES—Appeals made to President Truman, Governor Warren of California and AFL President William Green to lend aid in effecting settlement of long AFL jurisdictional dispute; sporadic fighting between pickets and strikers.

AUTOMOTIVE—Negotiations reopened in Detroit between CIO United Automobile Workers and Chrysler in union's demand for 30 per cent wage rate increase from industry's big three—Chrysler, Ford and General Motors.

LUMBER—No major developments in walkout of 61,700 AFL lumber workers in five Pacific Northwest States.

Gen. Marshall's War Report Open to Criticism Because Air Power Minimized

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The official story of how we won the war, out today in the form of General Marshall's report will light sparks of indignation within his War Department—sparks yet invisible to the public perhaps but likely to spread to cleansing proportions. (Fire cleans well.)

You may see plainly behind this report the whole trouble with that greatest branch of government, greatest in men and money. If you can read between the lines with a studied eye you can also see why the joint chiefs of staff hid since April the demand of fighting generals for a single defense department.

The Marshall report simply neglects to notice the part the Air Corps played—the decisive part, which an outsider may discern

MAN BEING HUNTED FOR KILLING WOMAN

Fingerprints in Salesman's Car Provide Clue

BEAUMONT, Texas, Oct. 10.—(P)—A charge of murder was filed yesterday against Riley McCaine, 40, Houston tire salesman, in the death Sept. 30 of Elnora Collins.

The charge was filed in the court of Justice of the Peace Horace Blades by Sheriff W. W. Richardson.

Beaumont officers said they would ask the Federal Bureau of Investigation to join the nationwide hunt for McCaine.

Detective Inspector C. V. Kern of Houston said fingerprints found in an abandoned car in Louisiana were those of Miss Collins, Houston loan office clerk.

Miss Collins' nude, partially burned body was found last Thursday in a lonely spot near Beaumont. She had been missing since the night of September 30, when, according to her friend who was with her, she accepted a ride from a man.

CACHE OF GOLD INCLUDES LOOT FROM CONQUEST

Internal Tension Grows as Political Prisoners of Old Regime Are Released

TOKYO, Oct. 10.—(P)—Liberated political prisoners emerged from behind the massive walls of four Japanese prisons today to the acclaim of welcoming Communist crowds shouting opposition to imperial rule—while a newly formed National Federation of Toilers arose to defend the imperial house and assail the Reds.

The Japanese navy's chief paymaster, Vice Adm. Ushinosuke Yamamoto, disclosed the navy's impounded fortune of several million dollars was acquired from conquered nations and from the Japanese people themselves, and was paid for abroad in now worthless military currency and at home in promissory notes which never were redeemed.

Promoters of the newly-created federation resolved to "wage a determined fight against Communism which aims at extermination of our unique national policy under the emperor."

The federation and another group favoring a drastic overhaul of the Japanese Diet rose suddenly in uneasy Nippon today as the new liberal premier, Baron Kijuro Shidehara, told his people in a broadcast:

"The hold of the military clique and bureaucrats on political power has been broken and all politics and economics will be determined by the will of the majority."

Sixteen liberated prisoners walked through the gate of Fuchu prison today to be hoisted immediately to the shoulders of a cheering crowd of 300 Japanese Communists and Koreans.

Shouting "Banzai for the re-front," the crowd waved red flags and Korean independence flags—then listened quietly while Communist Kiyuichi Tokuda urged overthrow of the imperial system.

"The imperial system is the root of all evils," he asserted. Tokuda spent 18 years in prison for voicing "such thoughts—before General MacArthur's directives and Shidehara's new liberality gave him immunity."

Three other persons, Kosuge, Toyotama and Tokyo Kochisao, also opened on the Oct. 10 dead-

FOOD SHIPS HALTED BY DOCK STRIKERS

British Walkout Termed Worst In 20 Years

LONDON, Oct. 10.—(P)—Britain's worst dock strike in 20 years continued to spread today despite a Food Ministry warning the tying up of food ships for a few days more would result in a sharp cut in the nation's already meager table supplies.

At least 45 ships loaded with thousands of tons of meat, bacon, cheese, butter, lard and oranges are among 300 vessels lying idle at 15 piers from London to Northern Ireland as a result of the unauthorized walkout of 33,000 dockhands.

The strikers are demanding 25 shillings (about $5) a day basic pay, an increase of eight shillings ($1.00).

QUEEN CROWNING AT HOMECOMING OF WHS PLANNED

Ceremonies for Friday Night Football Game To Be on Expanded Scale

Helen McCoy, brunette WHS senior, will be crowned homecoming queen at the middle of the Gardner Park football field shortly before the Hillsboro-Blue Lions game begins at 8 P. M. Friday.

The queen and her attendants—Martha Huff, junior; Leona Tillet, sophomore; Cindy Harper, freshman; Dorothy Pyle, eighth grade; and Helen Hidy, seventh grade—will ride onto the field in two convertibles. A triumph fanfare from the band will herald their approach.

Helen, Martha and Leona will ride in one car while the other three attendants will come in a second convertible. The cars will circle the field before they come to a stop for the coronation. A. B. Murray, superintendent of city schools, is to put the crown on Helen's head.

After she is crowned, Jim Mitchell, the football captain, will give her flowers and she, in turn, will present the pigskin to be used in the game and wish them luck. Then, Helen will be escorted to her throne by the team captain as other members of the Blue Lions squad escort the attendants to their special seats.

At the half, recognition of all alumni will be made following the band performance by the WHS and Hillsboro High School marching bands. A loud speaker announcement of not over two minutes will honor the alumni, after which they are to stand wherever they may be sitting.

LIONS CLUB SESSION AT TERHUNE COTTAGE

Sam Parrett Returns to Active Membership

The Lions Club's Tuesday night meeting was purely a social one at Robert Terhune's cottage near Cook's Station.

After the buffet supper was served, it was announced that the disbanded Jeffersonville club had transferred its treasury to the Washington C. H. Club's glasses funds and that some of the members had transferred here.

Steve Shay, a former WHS coach, was a guest at the meeting. Sam Parrett, recently discharged from the Navy, resumed active membership in the club.

POLITICAL UPHEAVAL IN ARGENTINA CALLED 'SIGNIFICANT' IN U. S.

the facts about yesterday's government changes are known.

He said, however, the United States was very interested in the Argentine developments because of the profound friendship and esteem of Americans for the Argentine people.

Americans will hope, Byrnes said, that the Argentine events may mean a happier time for those people—our good friends.

There was hope in government circles here that the Buenos Aires government had undergone a change of heart—and policy—with the Peron resignation.

What official Washington still wants to know is:

1. Did Gen. Eduardo Avalos really oust Peron from the vice presidency and two cabinet posts or did the strong man merely quit to launch his campaign for the Argentine presidency?
2. If Peron really was ousted, would Avalos follow up by insisting that President Edelmiro Farrell take immediate steps to fulfill Argentina's hemisphere and United Nations commitments and thus improve that country's delicate relations with the United States and other Americas?

Avalos previously had been regarded generally as a Peron supporter. This accounted for the reluctance of officials to wax enthusiastic over the news that Avalos had engineered the ouster of Peron.

DRIVES OVER GRAVE MARKERS LATE IN NIGHT

Soldier and Two Others Are Picked Up for Unusual Offense

Driving through a cemetery in the late hours of the night, and knocking over monuments in the Milledgeville-Plymouth cemetery, was a little more than the citizens of that community could stand, so they called Sheriff Orland Hays to pick up the offenders.

Sheriff Hays made an investigation and soon gathered up Carl Grooms, soldier, his brother, Lawrence and cousin, Charles, the latter two 16 years of age.

Sheriff Hays said that inquiry developed that Carl Grooms was the owner and driver of the auto that was driven across the cemetery, knocking down grave markers.

Sheriff Hays turned Grooms over to the military authorities, who promised proper punishment, and locked the two juveniles up for disposition at the hands of Judge Rell G. Allen.

The offense is the first of its kind ever reported in Fayette County, and was committed sometime after midnight Saturday night.

line set by MacArthur. Many of their political prisoners had been held without charge for 10 to 20 years, after they had advocated communism or spoken against the ruling Japanese government.

The 16 freed from Fuchu heard the crowd sing what a Korean called "The Song of the Red Flag." The prisoners wore shabby khaki but appeared well fed. They were taken by automobile to Hibya Park in downtown Tokyo where a welcoming rally was scheduled later today. Others were picked up from Toyotama prison en route.

Some of the prisoners were taken directly to the First Cavalry Division Command Post for questioning, however, as U. S. officers sought to locate possible additional prisons housing jailed liberals.

The Federation of Toilers is a new organization on Japan's troubled political scene.

The anti-communist resolution of the organization known in Japan as "Zenoku Kinoshita Domei" emphasized the viewpoint that "our faithful execution of provisions of the Potsdam declaration promises preservation of our imperial institution."

Domei said a group of Diet members who have been returned to parliament "not more than three times" has organized to bring about:

Dissolution of the Diet; then reformation "based on the people's will with a view to building up a new Japan from the stern realities of present defeat."

MINE STRIKE END NEARS; NEW DISPUTES BREAK OUT; ONE BIG ROW SETTLED

away from work because of labor troubles was reduced by 42,000 today with the settlement of a three-state strike of textile workers.

The reduction left the number off the job in various industries at 418,000.

Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach was hopeful of ending the critical strikes in the soft coal fields which would enable some 182,000 workers to resume digging in 749 closed mines.

The strike of 42,000 CIO textile print and dye workers in 284 shops in New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania ended with a union-management agreement to a 10 cents an hour wage increase for men and five cents for women. The wage question cannot be reopened until November 1, 1946.

Full production was expected to be reached by tonight or tomorrow.

The stoppage began in Paterson, N. J., on Sept. 27 and spread to other areas. The union scaled downward its wage increase demand from 15 cents to 10 cents.

In the soft coal dispute, which has cut into steel production, the secretary of labor was ready to offer a new compromise proposal to bituminous operators and United Mine Workers officials headed by President John L. Lewis. Schwellenbach said they "should be able to agree."

Additional steelworkers were forced to quit work because of coal shortages and production in many mills was cut by the closing of blast furnaces and open hearths. Miners left their jobs by the strikes included 75,600 in West Virginia; 58,467 in Pennsylvania; 27,200 in Kentucky; 8,000 in Tennessee; 8,000 in Ohio, and 5,000 in Indiana.

With no coal to move, 50 trains and 300 employees of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad in Kentucky were idle.

Shipping Tied Up

New York's crippling port-wide strike of 35,000 to 60,000 longshoremen left the world's busiest harbor virtually idle again today, the 10th day of the walkout in a dispute over a new contract. Thousands of tons of cargo went unmoved as 369 ships were tied up.

The strike, said Capt. Hewlett R. Bishop of the War Shipping Administration, was delaying the return of "thousands of troops," and 17 Liberty ships had been ordered to leave their cargo behind and sail for Europe immediately to pick up loads of returning servicemen. Army and UNRRA cargo previously had been carried by the vessels on trips to Europe. He said more than 110,000 tons of relief cargo and army supplies have piled up, including 8,000 tons of perishable meat for the Army.

Today all local unions of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association were expected to vote on whether to return to work tomorrow.

On the Pacific coast, 40 ships were idle at piers because of refusal of members of CIO Marine Cooks and Stewards Union to sign up under reduced personnel rules made by the WSA.

OHIO POETRY DAY IS ON OCTOBER 19

Schools Will Observe Day Which Is Fixed by Statute

Fayette County schools will join in the annual observance of Ohio Poetry Day, which will be held throughout the state, Friday, October 19.

A special day to honor and give recognition to Ohio poets, past and present, was designated by the Legislature in 1938, to be observed each year on the third Friday of October.

This special program will be featured by grades, classes, or through the medium of an assembly program, as the local school may choose. In many communities local talent will participate.

A banquet will be held that evening in the Chittenden Hotel in Columbus, where poets from all parts of the state will assemble to conclude the day's observance and to meet kindred friends. Dr. Clarence Stratton, supervisor of English, Cleveland Public School, will be the principal speaker. Special tables will be designated for the representatives of literary groups and the County Poetry Day chairman.

A special announcement will be made at the banquet concerning the preparation and publication in 1946 of another anthology of Ohio poetry, which has just been authorized by Dr. Clyde Hisson, the new State Superintendent of Public Instruction. While this project is meant particularly to stimulate the interest of the pupils in the schools of the state to try their hand at verse writing, it will also be open to all adult poets of the state, who wish to participate. The dead-line of poems will be April 1, 1946.

PLANS TO CUT TAXES LEAVE CONGRESS IN CONTROVERSIAL TANGLE

taxes led today to a controversy over possible multi-billion dollar loans abroad. A House Republican group declared this country cannot "continue to play Santa Claus," and remain solvent.

The Republican statement, made in a minority report on the pending $5,300,000,000 tax-trimming bill, came in the midst of efforts by Britain to obtain a loan here and reports that Russia may make a new request for financial aid.

The ten GOP members of the House ways and means committee blamed what they termed "profligate spending" for a large part of the national debt and declared: "Future reductions in taxes can only be made if the administration will cut wasteful and unnecessary spending."

The pending bill comes before the House tomorrow and is expected to pass and head for the Senate before nightfall.

It provides relief from record wartime levies for both individuals and corporations, assuring every individual taxpayer a 1946 reduction of at least 10 percent.

Scientific Issues

Here is more detail on the military, atomic and scientific doings: General Marshall in his report to the secretary of war asked for one year of compulsory military training. Most law-makers seemed to have the attitude of wait and see how many volunteers the Army and Navy can drum up.

If the recruiting campaign fails, then some members are willing to try compulsory training. Others aren't.

Marshall's recommendations for strengthening the National Guard and for spending plenty on scientific research were well received in Congress.

Today, veterans could keep an eye on the Senate office building. The GI bill of rights is still being studied for possible changes. A Senate finance subcommittee is doing the studying—all day long.

The final engagement of the War of 1812 was the battle of New Orleans.

ROME, Oct. 10.—(P)—Gen. Gustav von Zangen, who commanded a German army in Italy, denied at the war crimes trial of Gen. Anton Dostler today that the order to execute 15 captured American troops came from higher up.

Dostler, in charge of the German army near La Spezia where the Americans were put to death, is accused of the murders. Von Zangen, who was Dostler's superior, told the five-man U. S. military court he never heard of the executions until war crimes investigators interrogated him in June.

WORLD TODAY

By J. M. ROBERT S.J.R.
(Substituting for MacKenzie)

Twenty years ago today America was preparing to get rich quick, wars were a thing of the past, the Washington disarmament conference had left us feeling that we didn't even need the small defensive navy agreed upon, and all was right with the world.

A few voices raised in protest were drowned out by the clamorous search for normalcy. The United States Army was limited by law to 280,000 men. Congress had appropriated for 144,000, and actual strength was 133,000.

To be sure, German failure to disarm under the Versailles Treaty had forced extension of the original time limit for occupation of Cologne and the Rhineland, but the troops finally were moving out of the Ruhr. Mussolini had mobilized his Fascist National Guard and closed all rival political clubs.

The American acting consul at Leghorn, Italy, as seriously beaten by Fascists.

But the League of Nations Agreed in the initial steps of a further disarmament program, and signed new protocols covering "humane" warfare. Germany, under the man who built the Hindenburg line which American troops had been called upon to break in 1918, was at the forefront among the signers.

Twenty years ago today, at Locarno, the nations of Europe were in a conference which resulted in numerous agreements to preserve them "from the scourge of war" and providing for "peaceful settlement of disputes of every nature which might eventually arrive between them."

Germany agreed to liquidate her general staff, place a civilian at the head of her military establishment, and to prevent military training of German youth.

That was twenty years ago. Today General Marshall, after one of the most calamitous wars in history, reminds America that a rich nation which lays down its arms, in this age of terrifying and fantastic new weapons, courts catastrophe.

Two hundred thousand Americans have died in combat in the past four years, many of them, as Marshall report infers, because America didn't have proper organization and weapons. He says Germany had some better weapons and more of them—better tanks, better guns, better powder.

"The fact that we overtook Germany's head start on the atomic explosive is comforting," he says in a neat bit of understatement, "but certainly should not lull us again into a state of complacent inertia."

The Marshall report, in the light of history, supplies its own emphasis. For instance:

"These facts should be considered along with the police regarding the manufacture of explosives after the last war and the scientific development that should or would have followed in the plants of the great commercial manufacturers had they not been subjected to bitter attack as 'Merchants of Death.'"

CONSERVATION APPEAL IS MADE TO ROTARY CLUB

H. A. 'Buck' Rider of State Department Emphasizes Need of Cooperation

An appeal for more active interest by all citizens in helping with the statewide conservation plans, by H. A. (Buck) Rider, assistant conservation commissioner for Ohio, featured the program presented to Rotarians and guests at the club's Tuesday luncheon at the Country Club.

Introduced by W. L. Stinson of the October program committee, the speaker in a vigorous and very interesting address made clear to his hearers the vital conservation problems affecting every citizen of this state, directly or indirectly, as well as some of the grave questions along this line which the whole nation is facing and must solve if our resources are not to become dangerously depleted.

Rider declared that there must be a much greater and more sympathetic understanding of conservation needs of the state, as well as the nation, by the people if the recent great crime of war which had reduced our natural and human resources to a new low, did not cause much unnecessary hardship.

He spoke at length on the rapidly dwindling oil resources which are declared by some national officials to have reached the point of only a 15 year national reserve. Conservation of top soil and what it means, particularly in this state, was discussed, the speaker pointing out that loss and depletion of top soil would be a loss for all time, and would be a loss for all time, and would be a loss for all time.

Special attention to the serious situation in Ohio with reference to water shortage was stressed by Rider. He stated that although Ohio's average rainfall over a period of years had been 26 to 27 inches, our failure to get the benefit of all this water by reason of lack of proper conservation methods to retain much of what was needed for use on the land where it could be used advantageously, was becoming an increasingly acute problem. He asserted that three to five million acres of Ohio land is being endangered for best agricultural uses through failure to take necessary steps for conservation of the productive possibilities of the land.

Ronald Cornwell was the only service man in uniform who was a guest of the club Tuesday. Robert Prevost, Boy Scout, 2nd Class, a member of the Rotary troop, was also a guest. Some club members presented civilian guests as visitors on this occasion.

President Billie Wilson called attention of the visitors to next Tuesday noon's special program when Ladies Day will be featured by the presence of members' wives and other guests.

pace" us in development of instruments with military use. German development of long-range rockets and pilotless aircraft stemmed from this peacetime research.

"The fact that we overtook Germany's head start on the atomic explosive is comforting, but certainly should not lull us again into a state of complacent inertia," Marshall continued.

In a section of his report devoted to "our weapons," the general contested the belligerents in weapons inventions and improvements.

The Germans jet fighters went into combat first, but they were limited to a minimum endurance of a little over an hour. Ours, he said, "already had the endurance to fly non-stop from San Francisco to New York."

Another "noteworthy example of German superiority" was in the heavy tank, he reported, saying that "from the summer of 1943 to the spring of 1945 the German Tiger and Panther tanks out-matched our Sherman tanks in direct combat."

He explained that the American concept of the use of tanks was as a weapon of exploitation, making long stabs into the rear and therefore requiring low fuel consumption and ability to move great distances without breakdown.

But it became unavoidable in prepared-line fighting to escape tank-to-tank battles and in these Marshall conceded the Sherman medium was outclassed.

The M-26 Pershing tank, "equal in direct combat to any the Germans had," began to reach the battle lines of Europe last winter. At the same time, work was started on two heavier models, the 64-ton T-29 and T-30.

Other Nazi Advantages

In two other basic items, Germany held an advantage almost to the end of the war, Marshall said.

One was the 88 millimeter rifle, first encountered in the North African campaign. "Even at that time the U. S. Army had a similar weapon the 90 millimeter rifle, with greater penetrating power but the Germans had theirs on the battlefields and in quantity, with the 'bugs' worked out in previous battle experience over a period of years," Marshall wrote.

The other was in powder. Marshall said German ammunition was charged with smokeless, flashless powder which in both day and night fighting helped the enemy tremendously by concealing his gun positions. American gunners of all types "had to expose their positions with telltale muzzle flashes or puffs of powder smoke."

Out of America's peacetime resources came two "good advantages" over the Germans, the general concluded. One was the Garand semi-automatic rifle "which the Germans were never able to duplicate." The other was multiple-drive ground transport, chiefly the Jeep and the 2 1/2 ton truck.

Weapons of Tomorrow

What will be tomorrow's weapons?

Two generals, Chief of Staff Marshall and Chief of Air Forces Arnold, mention these:

Rocket-propelled weapons with atomic explosive.

Rockets streaking unerringly to targets, guided by autopilots made sensitive by electronic devices and other new instruments to the heat of factory furnaces, light and magnetism. They are so responsive that in a large room they aim themselves toward a man who enters, in reaction to the heat of his body.

Jet-propelled bombers flying in the stratosphere faster than the speed of sound and carrying bomb loads of more than 100,000 pounds. They will have sufficient range to attack any spot on earth. Already are construction of 45,000-pound bombs—and bombers to carry them.

Jet fighters within the next five years reaching the speed of sound, operating at 50,000 feet and capable of reaching targets 2,000 miles away.

NUMBER OF CLINTON FARMS DECREASING

Steady Drop Is Shown in the Past Ten Years

During the past five years the number of farms in Clinton County has decreased from 2,020 to 1,956, as shown by figures released by Walter Sheets, supervisor for the 1945 farm census in the Fourth District of Ohio. In 1935 the number was 2,230.

Total land in farms in Clinton County is 256,083 acres, as compared with 250,983 in 1940 and 256,983 in 1935.

The average size of the farms is 131 acres, compared with 124 acres five years ago and 115 acres in 1935.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

with the naked eye if he has read the news accounts of the war.

When the Chief of Staff does mention the air force it is always as if it was a step-accessory to the victory. The general or whoever composed the document for him is still back in the days when the effectiveness of air bombing, was undetermined, when it had never won a war. Since then it has indisputably won the war against Japan and the results in Germany have been checked on the ground, not from high altitude photographs.

The decisive nature of airpower has been established as a provable new principle of warfare. The German generals are generally accepted by military men as a smart lot. They have—or had—unbound imaginations on the military art up to the point of the greater conceptions such as overall strategy. The Germans make only the big mistakes (invading Russia, not invading England.)

They know what broke their backs and they all put some phase of air power, first, second or third on their lists along with the stupidity of Hitler strategy. In interviews afterward, they broke down and wanted to talk about their trade, as people interested in their own specialties will.

The interviews with Generals Jodl, Rundstedt, Thomas, Halden, Von Pahl and Even Hjalmar Schacht, the economist (probably the best mind in Germany) all attributed German defeat to "bombardment of factories and next bombardment of transport" (Thomas), "air superiority" (Von Pahl), "bombing the decisive factor" (Schacht) "air destruction of the German fuel structure through strategic bombing of oil won the war in Italy" (German air general there).

The Germans, it develops now, moved very few of their industrial plants underground because they did not have the men and materials for such extensive new construction. They depended on rebuilding as their main hope against bombing, and as our air strategy (Gen. Spaatz, coming head of army air) detected that decision, our bombers started coming back as soon as the destroyed factory was about half rebuilt.

The only tribute to the Air Corps I noticed particularly in the Marshall report was their rescue of the ground forces at Salerno. He left me with the impression he thought the strategic bombing of Germany was a holding movement until the ground forces could invade.

With such ill-logic, he might have called MacArthur's arduous island hopping and the whole war against Japan as a holding movement for the atomic bomb.

The significance is this: Marshall in this report represents old school tie in the army, a grey tie. He is of the conservative type of older generals. In the past era of ditch warfare, artillery barrages and cavalry, his mind was formed like those of many another among the joint chiefs of staff. They do not grasp the strategic significance of most recent events. (I hear Generals Eisenhower and MacArthur do.)

The Air Corps is composed mainly of young men who know the new fighting because they gained their mentally formative experience in this era. They are the Billy Mitchell type, the Doolittles.

Now this new plan for national defense, the plan which has been suppressed by the joint chiefs of staff who have refused even to pass it on to the president, would give the air corps the standing of a separate department within the one big defense department. They would be equal to the ground forces and the navy under one head. The older generals like old ways best.

Billions are being recommended for defense. They will be wasted unless the single department idea goes through, and the young men have their chance, for there is no other way available now to get fresh, experienced brainpower to the top of national defense.

Incidentally the recently published rumors of Eisenhower taking Marshall's job are true, and while the switch was until recently planned for the first of the year, it may now come sooner.

At the high school, with an enrollment of 1,034, it took one minute and 40 seconds to empty the building, A. B. Murray, superintendent of city schools, said. Central elementary school is included in the high school drill, he added.

Rose Avenue's fire drill took 55 seconds with an enrollment of 138; Eastside, 59 seconds with 308 enrolled; Sunnyside, one minute with 273 enrolled and Cherry Hill, 50 seconds with 110 in the six grades and 35 in each kindergarten section.

124 DAR Chapters in Competition for Awards To Be Given in Spring

The Ohio Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, has numerous projects for this year and the versatility of its work is evidenced by the many prizes offered to the chapters over the state, Mrs. E. L. Morgan, regent of the Washington C. H. chapter, said today. These awards will be given at the Spring Conference.

The membership committee is headed in the state by Mrs. Frank O. McMillen of Akron, vice-regent of the Ohio DAR. She states that, "Ohio now has 124 chapters with 7,798 members." McMillen says "Chapters cannot stand still and survive, as well as new methods of working out old ones. Since membership comes only from direct descent of a person who helped establish the free United States, it is up to us who are eligible to help maintain it, for freedom loving people," Mrs. Loren Hynes is membership chairman here.

Awards to chapters consist of a $5 prize to the highest net gain of membership in chapters over 100 members; $5 to chapters 100 members or less; and $5 to the Junior group with the greatest net gain. Mrs. James B. Patton, state D.A.R. regent, and national vice-chairman of membership, is offering two additional prizes. The first is a $5 prize to chapters showing the largest number of daughters, daughters-in-law and granddaughters of members accepted this year. The second $5 prize will be awarded to the chapter having the largest number of reinstated members.

Mrs. C. A. Longstreet, state chairman of the Junior American Citizens Committee, announces that a $5 award will be given to the chapter having the largest number of J.A.C.'s in proportion to their membership. Many children, especially during this past war, have been deprived of worthwhile things, including the systematic teaching of good citizenship and patriotism. Membership in the J.A.C.'s gives these impressionable, eager children an opportunity to learn the American Way of Life. These groups meet in churches, public schools, YMCA's and Settlement Houses. Mrs. Forest A. DeBra is local chairman of this committee.

Mrs. Charles R. Petree of Columbus, chairman of the press relations committee, announced "a prize of $5 will be given to the chapter reporting the most publicity this year." Mrs. H. D. Shankle is press relations chairman in the chapter here.

The advancement of American Music Committee, whose state chairman is Miss Winifred Rader of Lakewood, is giving the largest award. It is a $50 prize to any person in Ohio who will compose the best music for the poem "Ohio We Hail You Proudly." Mrs. Leonard R. Korn is local chairman.

Mrs. Ralph L. Miller, chairman of conservation, Painesville, states, "there will be a two year reforestation project for Ohio D.A.R. At the cost of $6 per acre, Poverty Ridge (located in the Blue Rock State Forest, outside of Zanesville), will be planted with tulip poplars on the south and east exposures and pines will adorn the north and west slopes. Each chapter in the state will be able to purchase as many acres as they desire. Mrs. Robert C. Haigler is chairman of the conservation committee for the D.A.R. chapter here.

State Legion Commander To Be at Installation Here

All World War II Veterans Invited to Thursday Evening Turkey Supper and Ceremonies—Outline of Important Legion Postwar Objectives Anticipated

Legionnaires and veterans of World War II who have not yet joined the Paul H. Hughey Post here today were looking forward to a general outline of the American Legion's postwar policy when the state commander, Harry A. Eaton, comes here for the annual installation ceremonies and turkey dinner Thursday evening.

Officers of the post have swung wide the doors and laid out the welcome mat at the Legion Hall on North Fayette Street for the veterans of the second World War for this occasion. Invitations have been sent to all of those whose addresses could be found. But, with a realization that many probably were missed because of the ever-changing and incomplete records, a blanket invitation has been extended to returning servicemen, whether or not they are members of the Legion.

"We sincerely want every eligible veteran in Fayette County as a member of the Legion," Charles Morgan, the retiring post commander said as he planned for this final affair under his stewardship.

The post now has the largest membership in its history, the records show, and the hope and conviction that the 300 now on the rolls would be more than doubled when returning veterans get settled has been expressed. Many of the returning veterans are sons of Legionnaires who fought for the same principles a quarter of a century ago and have the same hopes and ideals to day.

It is to emphasize the importance of the American Legion in peacetime America that the state commander is coming here for Thursday evening's ceremonies and the new veterans invited to attend, a member of the executive committee explained.

R. B. (Bud) Tharp, a past commander who will be installed again as commander, is in charge of the turkey dinner to be served at 7 P. M.

Carson Miner, newly elected commander of this, the seventh district, also will be here for the ceremonies.

State commander Eaton is to conduct the installation of Tharp as post commander; Charles Burke first vice commander; Robert Jefferson, second vice commander; T. Harold (Dutch) Craig, adjutant and Walter Hutton, finance officer.

The state commander trained for the first World War at Camp Sherman at Chillicothe and served overseas with the 83rd Division, First Army and Division of Paris. He was discharged in France in December of 1918 to become an auditor at the Peace Conference in Paris.

Coming back to Ohio after the war he has been affiliated with manufacturing concerns as comptroller and sales manager and for the past 15 years has been general manager of a successful manufacturing company.

He was born in Woodsfield (Monroe County), but now lives in Ashland.

He attended Ohio University and is a graduate of the Elliott School of Business. He taught school for two years before he went into the Army.

On the home front during the war just ended, he served on the board of directors of the Salvation Army, on the committees for all five War Bond drives and Community Chest campaigns.

Active in the Legion since he joined the post in Ashland in 1920, he served on nearly all of the important committees and as the post commander. On his rise to state commander of the Legion he served as vice commander, then commander of his district, and on many state committees before he was chosen for state vice commander and last year was elected to the highest state office in which he now serves. He has attended all but three state conventions and every national convention since 1935 and was appointed national committeeman from Ohio to the 1943 Legion national constitutional amendment committee.

It is this background, committeemen here said, that gives him such a comprehensive understanding of the American Legion's policies and its objectives for post-war America as well as an understanding of the problems of the new veterans.

PREPAREDNESS PLAN OUTLINE IS GIVEN BY CHIEF OF STAFF

any nation or combination of nations which might sometime feel powerful enough to attempt settlement of political arguments or gain resources or territory by force of arms."

Mistakes of Past

In the past, he said, "we have ignored the hard realities of world affairs. We have been purely idealistic."

Marshall insisted that any hope for lasting peace must be predicated on the ability to enforce it with strength. He said the State Department believes that a decision now to adopt universal military training would generally bolster this country's efforts to obtain world organization.

"This war has made it clear that the security of the nation, when challenged by an armed enemy, requires the services of virtually all able-bodied male citizens within the effective military age group," Marshall wrote.

"In war the nation cannot depend on the numbers of men willing to volunteer for active service; nor can our security in peace."

Training a Keystone

"In another national emergency, the existence of a substantial portion of the nation's young manpower already trained or in process of training, would make it possible to fill out immediately the peacetime ranks of the navy, the regular army, the national guard, and the organized reserve."

"As a result our armed forces would be ready for almost immediate deployment to counter initial hostile moves, ready to prevent an enemy from gaining footholds from which he could launch destructive attacks against our industries and our homes."

"By this method we would establish, for generations to come, a national military policy:

"(1) which is entirely within the financial capabilities of our peacetime economy and is absolutely Democratic in its nature, and (2) which places the military world and therefore the political world on notice that this vast power, linked to our tremendous resources, wealth and production, is immediately available.

Command Respect

"There can be no question that all the nations of the world will respect our views accordingly, creating at least a probability of peace on earth and good will among men rather than disaster upon disaster in a tormented world where the very processes of civilization itself are constantly threatened."

The only effective defense a nation can now maintain is the power of attack and that power can not be in machinery alone, Marshall said.

He foresaw the possibility of a future war in which the United States might be showered, as southern England was, with rocket-propelled weapons—but new ones having the explosive power of the atomic bomb.

If this should come to pass, he said, the United States will "bleed and suffer to the point of annihilation, unless we can move armies of men into the enemy's bases of operation and seize the sites from which he launches his attacks."

"Future So Terrifying"

The atomic bomb is not the only scientific development making the "possibilities of the future so terrifying," wrote Marshall. And he presented a hitherto secret report by Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the air forces, to show what has or is being accomplished.

Arnold said we can direct rockets to targets by electronic devices and other new instruments which "home" in to sources of light, heat and magnetism—streaking unerringly to the hearts of big factories, attracted by the heat of the furnaces.

We are making bombs weighing 45,000 pounds and have 100,000 pounders on the drawing boards. Within the next few years there will be jet-propelled bombers with 500 to 600 mile an hour speed.

Development of others, operating in the stratosphere at speeds faster than sound "is a certainty" and these aircraft "will have sufficient range to attack any spot on the earth and return to a friendly base."

Destruction From Afar

Weapons such as these make the air approaches points of extreme danger Arnold said, adding:

"With the continued development of weapons and techniques now known to us, the cities of New York, Pittsburgh, Detroit, Chicago or San Francisco may be subject to annihilation from other continents in a matter of hours."

His second biennial report nominally embraced the period July 1, 1943, to June 30, 1945, but Marshall expanded it to include August 10 when Japan sued for peace.

He wrote Secretary Patterson that "for the first time since assuming this office six years ago, it is possible for me to report that the security of the United States of America is entirely in our hands."

Defeat Just Missed

Looking back to the black days of 1942 when Axis expansion was in its flood tide, Marshall said:

"In those hours Germany and Japan came so close to complete domination of the world that we do not yet realize how thin the thread of Allied survival had been stretched."

He asserted that "in good conscience this nation can take little credit for its part in staving off disaster in those critical days. It is certain that the refusal of the British and Russian peoples to accept what appeared to be inevitable defeat was the great factor in the salvage of our civilization. Of almost equal importance was the failure of the enemy to make the most of the situation."

Marshall said that interrogation of Axis high commanders showed the original three members of the Axis—Germany, Italy and Japan—acted individually in directing their own aggression.

"Here," commented Marshall,

"were three criminal nations eager for loot and seeking greedily to advance their own self-interest by war, yet unable to agree on a strategic over-all plan for accomplishing a common objective."

Marshall listed these steps in Germany's military downfall:

(1) Failure to invade England after Dunkirk.

(2) Failure of the 1941 campaign against Moscow which led Hitler to remove his commander-in-chief, General Von Brauchitsch—"the turning point in the war."

(3) Failure of the Stalingrad siege, another Hitler idea.

(4) Failure of the Ardennes counterattack last winter—also a Hitler mistake and his last on the grand scale.

The general said that the Japanese strategic plan included invasion of the Hawaiian islands and the Aleutians, subjecting the northwest United States to aerial bombardment, raiding west coast aviation industries and then seizing critical areas.

Japs Muffed Chance

The plan failed at the start, he said, when the enemy did not land troops on Hawaii to deny the United States the launching point for the American advance across the Pacific.

Marshall disclosed that the United States had ready a detailed plan for the invasion of the Japanese homeland, calling for two general operations.

The first was scheduled for this fall, aimed at the southern island of Kyushu. The second, timed for about four months later, was to have put two American armies ashore in the immediate area of Tokyo, on the main island of Honshu.

These were "our plans for final victory in World War II should Japan fight to a last ditch national suicide," the general said.

But "we had other plans which we anticipated might bring a much speedier end to the war"—atomic bombardment by air.

He noted that Japan's surrender offer came four days after the first atomic bomb hit Hiroshima.

WAR'S TIDE TURNED BY U. S. AIR POWER MARSHALL CONCEDES

of German communications in May, 1944, Marshall said:

"The effects of this phase of the air assault were enormous, for transportation and communications are the life arteries of a modern industrial state engaged in total war."

Transfer of German fighters from the East to the West to meet the Allied bombing threat, the chief of staff said, "was an important factor in enabling the Soviet air arm to maintain superiority on their front."

He noted also that as Gen. George Patton's Third Army raced across France, "supply by air was often necessary to maintain its momentum."

"The crushing power of the air attack and its paralyzing effect on the enemy's movement blasted the way for rapid penetration of German lines (in Gen. Omar N. Bradley's drive to the Meuse River)," Marshall said.

When the weather cleared during the Ardennes break-through by the Nazis, Marshall said, it "permitted our overwhelming tactical air forces to strike terrific blows at the German armor and supply columns."

And in the critical week ended last March 22, he said, United States aircraft made 14,430 heavy bomber attacks, 7,262 medium bomber attacks and 29981 fighter sorties.

In the Pacific War the "air plan for the reduction of Japan" was drawn at Quebec in August, 1943, and followed throughout.

"Only by air supply was the Burma campaign at all possible," Marshall commented. He noted that air supply over the Himalayan hump had reached 46,000 tons a month by last January and was "one of the great logistical accomplishments of the war against Japan."

Marshall did not attempt to detail the air war in the Pacific, where except for the well known story of 20th Air Force B-29's the largest part of the air fighting was by Navy and Marine units.

He LIKES to work for the farmer

Nothing pleases us more than helping Ohio farmers by lightening their chores, i.e., saving them time and travel in the necessary communications of farm management.

That's why we had a program under way for extending farm telephone service to remote parts of the Ohio Bell rural areas before the war... that's why we are planning new ways and means for continuing this farm telephone development in the "piping times of peace."

New methods and materials will make it possible in this post-war era to provide more and better telephone service to Ohio rural areas.

We are resuming the work halted by the war in 1942. By practical planning and availing ourselves of all these telephone developments, we will be able to give Ohio Bell rural users the kind of telephone service they have every right to expect at reasonable rates. We bespeak your cooperation by being patient for yet a little while.

Another two-out-of-three victory was scored by the Klever Funeral Home girls, who, after bowling to the Light Dairymaid in the first game, hurricaned through to take the last two games.

The API women took two from the Murphy five and dime girls, although the Murphy team won the first game.

Today's Guest Star
John Mooney, Salt Lake Telegram: "Larry MacPhail has engineered two major baseball deals this year—the sale of Hank Borow to the Cubs for a reported $100,000 and the sale of Happy Chandler to the major leagues as commissioner at $50,000 annually.

At this writing the experts can't decide which was the bigger honor."

Candid Coaching
When Freshman Lou Kusserow of Columbia muffed a pass from center in last Saturday's Syracuse game and then tried to run the ball out from deep in the end zone, Coach Lou Little turned to Assistant Buff Donelli.

"Send someone in there to bowl that kid out or else bring him out and do it," growled Lou. Just then he turned back to the field and saw Kusserow being hauled down on the Syracuse 14-yard line.

"Better not," Little decided, "He's only 17 years old and you might hurt his feelings."

SARRINGHAUS AND FISHER READY TO PLAY

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Paul Sarringhaus and Dick Fisher again will be ready to go when Ohio State meets Wisconsin here Saturday.

Left halfback Sarringhaus, injured in the Iowa game, romped through one of the fastest and toughest practice workouts of the season yesterday and appeared to be in fine shape.

His return shifted Fisher to the right halfback spot and that too strengthened the belief the Sarringhaus-Fisher combination would start against the Badgers.

Coach Carroll Widows indicated he planned to unhook some razzle dazzle against Wisconsin by addition of several new and spectacular plays designed to badger the Badgers.

Ticket director Henry Taylor predicted 60,000 would see the game.

The first string backfield yesterday also included Robin Friday at quarter and Ollie Cline at fullback.

Left tackle Russ Thomas, injured in the Iowa game, continued to watch from the sidelines. Right tackle Thornton Dixon, another injured Buckeye grinder, reported in full battle dress.

Navy Center Voted Week's Top Lineman

By TED MEIER

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Dick Scott, Navy center, won honors today as "the lineman of the week" in the first Associated Press lineman poll of the college football season.

Commander Oscar Hagberg, Navy coach, praised Scott to the skies for his play in the Midshipmen's 21-0 triumph over previously unbeaten Duke.

"Besides playing his position excellently," said the commander, "Scott intercepted a couple of passes and directed the defense activities of our team. He played a great game throughout."

Pressing him closely were Warren Amling, Ohio State guard; Ernest "Bear" Knotts, Duke guard; Mac Wenskunas, Illinois center; Earl "Red" Wheeler, Arkansas center; Dick Hollingshead, Yale tackle; Roger Desroches, Holy Cross tackle; Hank Walker, Virginia end; Bob Fitch, Minnesota tackle; Dick Duden, Navy end; and Jim Kekeris, Missouri tackle.

Kekeris, a towering 280-pounder, accounted for Missouri's upset 10-7 victory over Southern Methodist with a 17-yard field goal. Previously his blocking had paved the way for Missouri's touchdown after which he also kicked the extra point.

Bert McGrane, of the Des Moines Register; Bob Hooley of the Ohio State Journal at Columbus and Paul Hornung of the Columbus Dispatch agreed that Amling virtually played two positions for the Buckeyes against Iowa. "He was invincible in his own spot and aided the inexperienced tackle beside him," McGrane said.

Elsewhere around Midwest grids: Martin Meyer was named captain of the Wisconsin team for Saturday's game with Ohio State at Minnesota. Coach Bernie Bier-man reported Ft. Warren's soldiers probably will be much tougher than expected, and drilled his Gophers accordingly. Coach Lynn Waldorf at Northwestern moved fullback Bill Travers to guard when Jack McKenzie returned from service to take over Travers' post. Indiana worked on pass defense. Illinois held a long dummy scrimmage workout stressing both attack and defense.

Michigan, once-beaten, but still a title favorite, is one example. The Wolverines meet Army at New York. Indiana's unbeaten but once-tied Hoosiers entertain Nebraska. Minnesota has Ft. Warren, Wyo., as a foe at home.

Only two conference games are on the card. Iowa plays at Purdue and Ohio State's defending conference champions entertain Wisconsin. Illinois and Northwestern are idle.

Of the entire schedule, the intersectional battle between Michigan and Army is the most outstanding, insofar as the Midwest's status in national collegiate competition is concerned. Michigan will try to retrieve, in a minor extent, at least, the prestige the Midwest lost last year when the Cadets romped over Notre Dame.

Iowa worked on blocking and tackling yesterday as the Hawk-eyes prepared for Saturday's game with Purdue. The Boiler-makers went through a long offensive drill and, although becoming the loss of fullback George Hihal, who suffered a broken rib in last week's victory over Wisconsin, welcomed back Ewell O'Brien, letter-winner at tackle in 1942. O'Brien recently was discharged from the service.

Only Two Big Ten Games On Schedule for Saturday

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—(AP)—The Western Conference football brigade takes things a bit easy this week, insofar as title aspirations are concerned, but some of the teams may run up against competition a lot stiffer than they'd find at home.

Michigan, once-beaten, but still a title favorite, is one example. The Wolverines meet Army at New York. Indiana's unbeaten but once-tied Hoosiers entertain Nebraska. Minnesota has Ft. Warren, Wyo., as a foe at home.

CIVILIAN LIFE NO PROBLEM FOR ROBERT OLINGER

Jump in Prices Thing That He Notices Most After Five Years in Army

Robert Olinger looks as though the white shirt, mildly loud necktie and grey trousers suit him. He never had been laid aside for army work—but less than a month ago these clothes were still in the store.

Olinger has been a civilian since September 22 and a week ago went back to his old job at the First National Bank where he worked for four and a half years before he entered the army. That was in October, 1940. Olinger was with the 37th Division then but transferred to the paratroops July 10, 1942. He and Heber Minton—then a captain but who also is discharged now—were in the same 506th regiment of the 101st airborne division.

The thing that Olinger notices most about coming back is the jump in prices. "I used to get a hamburger for a nickel—now it's 15 cents," he said. Otherwise, things are about the same—the people, the town and his job.

Aside from leaving for home September 14 from Marseilles, the things Olinger remembers most vividly of his two years and ten days of overseas duty are the night jump into Normandy when Europe was invaded June 6, 1944 and the eight days in the Bastogne pocket when the Germans surrounded American forces.

He was along the first men to enter Berchtesgaden, Hitler's mountain stronghold which fell after Allied air attacks. The Ruhr pocket, taking the Rhine valley and occupation duty in a small town in Austria are things Olinger could talk about.

Back when Olinger was a sergeant-major, he wore the presidential citation with an oak leaf cluster; a bronze star; and an ETO ribbon with four battle stars and a bronze arrowhead for the Normandy jump. He also was awarded a certificate of merit by his commanding general, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor who is now commandant at West Point.

Right now, however, Olinger is more interested in being a civilian than recounting his experiences in the army—experiences that cover most of Europe. After his discharge September 22, he had the very distinct pleasure of buying all new civilian clothes—he had gained 30 pounds during his five years of service. "One jacket was the only thing I had before the war that still fit me," he chuckled.

He and Mrs. Olinger live at 619 South Main Street—and, incidentally, Olinger still is receiving letters his wife wrote him while he was overseas.

HOSPITAL IS BACKED BY EASTSIDE P-TA

Committees for Year Named;
Abernethy Is Speaker

The hospital project and the renewal of the three-mill school levy have the backing of the Eastside P-TA today after a meeting Tuesday night at which both proposals were endorsed.

Rev. John K. Abernethy, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, was the featured speaker at the meeting. Using as his subject the P-TA purpose—parents and teachers working together to build the child—Rev. Abernethy said the home was the cradle of education. Only by cooperation between the parents and the teachers can the child grow. Families, schools and churches must work together for the benefit of the child, Rev. Abernethy declared.

Stephen C. Brown, the high school principal, projected two movies, one a technicolor short on Pan American countries and the other about the signing of the Japanese peace treaty.

A poem, "Our Task" read by the president, Mrs. W. W. Humphries and group singing of a hymn were the devotional part of the meeting. Miss Elizabeth Adams' third grade won the P-TA attendance banner. Miss Hilda Lee Evans, fourth grade teacher, was introduced.

A sales tax stamp contest among the rooms at the school has been launched with a treat in store for the room which collects the most sales tax stamps. Mrs. Ray Badgley was named rummage sale chairman, also.

Committees for the year were named at the Tuesday meeting. They are: Program, Mrs. John O'Connor, Mrs. George Severs and Mrs. Ora Middleton; hospital, Mrs. Mac Dews, Mrs. Robert Moats and Mrs. Byron Tracey; nominating, Mrs. Ray Davis, Mrs. Charles Crone and Mrs. Frank Lentz; auditing, Frank Lentz and W. NEW BUILDINGS IN CITY NOW TAKING SHAPE

Shortage of Bricklayers Is Handicap to Building
Operations Here

Grading about the new building being erected by the Farm Bureau Co-operative Association, on South Main and Fayette Streets between the B. and O. and Pennsylvania railroads, is being completed.

Steel framework of the building has been in place for some time, and work on the walls is expected to be well under way by the end of this week, so that the structure can be ready for occupancy by January 1.

The new garage building of the Merweather Motor Co., being constructed on Clinton Avenue, immediately west of the Pennington Bakery, is rapidly taking form.

The footers have been poured, and work on the walls, which will be of buff tile and cement, is under way.

Some of the steel has arrived and this will be placed in position as soon as possible, and the garage will be ready for use within a few weeks.

A shortage of brick masons is retarding construction work in the community, reports indicate.

Reports also state that several new buildings are being contemplated at various places in the city, but most of these will probably not get under way until later this fall or possibly next spring.

MORE STREET PATCHING IN THE UP-TOWN AREA

Workmen have been busy the past day or two doing some additional patching of the streets in the up-town area, particularly along the curbs where auto wheels, over a period of years, have forced the asphalt away and left depressions.

The work of patching such places has been carried out over most of the uptown area during the past two months, and is a big improvement that is much appreciated by motorists generally.

COUNTY HOSPITAL GIVEN SPOTLIGHT

Selden Grange Meeting Is Tuesday Night

The proposed Fayette County Memorial Hospital took the spotlight at the Selden Grange meeting Tuesday night.

A movie, "Every Two Seconds," was shown to the group. It emphasized the need for a community hospital, stressing the fact that someone enters a hospital every two seconds.

Ralph Nisley, chairman of the county hospital committee, and W. W. Montgomery, chairman of the Concord Township hospital committee, each spoke briefly before Miss Susie Garringer, county health nurse, was introduced.

Miss Garringer spoke of the practical need for a hospital. She also mentioned the need for more doctors here.
